

We've never written a press release before - so maybe this is useless?

Keegan Joyce (Please Like Me/Rake) releases album Snow on Higher Ground September 1

Snow on Higher Ground is the debut album of actor Keegan Joyce. He is best known for his television roles on the ABC show's 'Rake' (Fuzz) and 'Please Like Me' (Arnold) and was seen in musical productions of 'Once'. It was in 'Once' that Keegan discovered his love of the folk, country and bluegrass music, also where he met Jane Patterson who features extensively on the album.

A folk/country singer-songwriter and actor with a musicology degree...none of it makes sense. His songs betray his innocent looks and his depth of lyricism is only complimented by his interesting but subtle musical stylings. This is a debut album with a history.

A word from Keegan "I'm nervous as anything to put my music out there, this is something I've been working on a while, if I kept it to myself and someone found out it would seem pretty fucking self-indulgent. So here is "snow on higher ground" an entirely not self indulgent 47 minutes of sad reflective music."

Snow on Higher Ground will be released on all major digital platforms including iTunes, Spotify, and Bandcamp September 1. The album is also available for pre-order now on Vinyl along with an in depth "liner notes" booklet at:

A message from Keegan's brother: 15 August 2016, Melbourne VIC - Keegan Joyce doesn't much like talking about himself, much less in third person. So he asked me to do it – his little brother...mistake.

He has a debut album Snow on Higher Ground releasing September 1 accompanied by a debut performance in Melbourne. He began performing really young, maybe even too young, but he hasn't stopped – I mean, he could have done something more meaningful. I mean sure, writing brilliant lyrics about his life that are both heartfelt and entertaining while entwining them with charming and engaging melodies is all well and good, but I'm sure that he could have found a way that he could have impacted the world more thoroughly. On second thought, maybe he should stick to the music.

What's annoying is my friends like his shows 'Please Like Me' and 'Rake' on the ABC. But if I wanted to watch my brother kiss people on television...well, safe to say, I don't. He keeps on sending me his songs for his debut album Snow on Higher Ground – I am always willing to write a positive and feel-good 'yeh, nice' or even a 'great job bro' if I'm in a good mood – but let's be real, brotherly love is really just that. I showed a friend (one of his so-called 'fans') a song or two – they loved it, said 'the melodies felt enchanting and familiar yet somehow surprising and capturing.' I think they're just sad songs.

He's continuously updating ridiculous photos of himself on his Instagram and Twitter (@keeganjoyce) which I have obviously followed to give him the numbers, but seriously are people actually interested in this stuff?

Anyway – come to the show please, I don't want him to notice I'm not there.
Thanks - RJ
